THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Commencement Commemorates

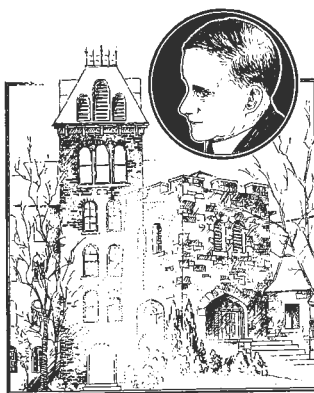

COMMENCEMENTS at Juniata College come and go, yet each has its individual characteristics which set it apart from the rest. The 1943 commencement is particularly different because it marks the close of the presidency of Dr. Charles Calvert Ellis.

President Ellis has been so closely lined with Juniata over so many years, as student, teacher, president, that it is difficult for most of us to conceive of a Juniata without him. Fortunately Dr. and Mrs. Ellis will remain in Huntingdon after retirement.

This is also the second regular commencement for Juniata since Pearl Harbor. Many of our boys have already answered the call and even more will not return to college next Fall. Four members of the present graduating class have been inducted into the armed forces during their last term and will receive their degrees in absentia. The remaining men will enter the services immediately after graduation, enter graduate school or accept technical positions in industry.

An unusually fine group of speakers will make the addresses over commencement week-end this year. Dr. William Pearson Tolley, chancellor of Syracuse University and president of the Association of American Colleges will give the commencement address on Monday morning. Dr. Francis Harvey Green, '31, LL. D., headmaster of the Pennington School for Boys, will be the alumni luncheon speaker at noon Saturday, and Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, '17, Litt.D., state archivist and publisher of the Altoona Tribune, will speak at the Friends of the Library tea on the same day. Dr. C. Hans Evans, '33, will be the Sunday evening vesper speaker.

Another outstanding feature of the 1943 commencement is the presentation of three honorary degrees. Juniata has always been very careful, even stringent in granting honorary degrees, and this year's recipients measure up to the fine standard set by the eminent personages so honored previously. William S. Livengood, Jr., Pennsylvania secretary of internal affairs and past president of the Juniata College Alumni Association, Professor John Baker of Harvard University, a trustee of Juniata College, and President V. F. Schwalm of Manchester College will receive the honorary degrees.

With the exception of the omission of the Shakespearean production on Saturday evening and the oratorio on Sunday evening, the commencement program will proceed much as usual. Other events will be substituted on Saturday and Sunday evening.

A senior recital by Miss Betty Snider, '43, assisted by Miss Evelyn Springer, '44, will be presented in Oller Hall on Friday evening, May 28, at 8:30 o'clock.

A full interesting Alumni Day program has been arranged for Saturday. The Juniata College Orchestra, directed by Professor Herman F. Scholl, will present a concert at 8:30 o'clock in Oller Hall. The Senior Class Exercises will follow the concert.

On Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, President Ellis will deliver his last baccalaureate sermon as president of the college. The usual Commencement Sunday activities will follow through the day concluding with the choir concert in Oller Hall at 8:30 p. m.

The commencement exercises will be held as usual on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Oller Hall. The program will include the address, the announcement of honors, and the conferring of degrees.

The President Speaks

AS we move toward the close of our academic year it would not be difficult to speak of it as the most unusual year in all our history. It is doubtful whether any year ever opened with so many many familiar faces missing from the college picture. As the year went on others from faculty and student groups were called away. They have gone into all types and grades of national service and at least three of them have paid the supreme sacrifice. Illness also has affected our faculty this year more than usual.

Not all of our local alumni chapters were able to hold reunions this year and yet it was remarkable how many meetings were held and unusual attendance and interest characterized nearly all of them. It was my privilege to be at a half dozen of these gatherings and I can but express here my deep appreciation for the many personal tributes.

Despite the handicaps we have gone through the year as happily and hopefully as possible and are looking forward to a commencement season of unusual interest marked by the presence of a number of distinguished guests, all of whom I am happy to regard as my own personal friends as well as friends and honorary graduates, many of them, of our college.

May I take this occasion to thank all of the alumni and friends who either as members of the One Hundred Club or otherwise have helped to ease the financial burden of the College in this difficult year.

Charles C. Ellis

Commencement Speaker

CHANCELLOR William Pearson Tolley of Syracuse University, president of the Association of American Colleges and former president of Allegheny College will deliver the commencement address on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Oller Hall.

Seventy-three seniors will be candidates for degrees at this or the Summer Session commencement. Sixty individuals will probably receive their degrees at the Spring exercises, while thirteen seniors, needing one or more additional courses, will be candidates for degrees at the close of the Summer Session. Four members of the senior class, Charles Catherman, James Heath, Robert Woy, and J. Garwood Holsinger have already been called into the Army and will receive their degrees in absentia. Five students, under the accelerated program were able to earn their degrees by the close of the mid-year in February.

Dr. Tolley, a native of Pennsylvania, was known as the youngest college president in the United States when in 1931 at the age of 30 he accepted the presidency of Allegheny College, where he served until going to Syracuse in September of 1942.

Following his acceptance of the presidency of Allegheny College in 1931, Dr. Tolley rapidly became a national figure in higher education. From 1932 to 1936, and since 1938, he has been a member of the University Senate of the Methodist Church. For six years

Dr. Francis Harvey Green
Luncheon Speaker

he served as secretary-treasurer of the College Presidents Association of Pennsylvania and was president at the time of his election to the chancellorship at Syracuse.

Dr. Tolley's services in bringing to a successful conclusion the long negotiations between the Association of American Colleges and the American Association of University Professors concerning the tenure of college professors brought him national prominence in the education field. He was elected last Fall to serve as president of the Association of American Colleges. Recently he was appointed a member of the advisory council to the War Manpower Commission in Washington.

Dr. Green

DR. Francis Harvey Green, '31, the alumni luncheon speaker, is the headmaster of the Pennington School for Boys and widely-known as a lecturer and author.

Dr. Green taught English and literature at Juniata College from 1884 to 1888 and has always kept his friendship with the college. He was teaching here when President Ellis arrived as a student. An acquaintanceship began then which has continued through the years.

TO RECEIVE HONORARY DEGREES

Dean John C. Baker

Hon. Wm. S. Livengood

Pres. V. F. Schwalm

He attended West Chester State Teachers College and Amherst College. As a student at Harvard University, Dr. Green met the late Dr. I. Harvey Brumbaugh, and a lifelong friendship was formed. Dickinson College conferred upon him the M. A. degree, Temple gave him the Litt.D. degree, while Juniata granted him the LL.D.

Dr. Green went from Juniata to West Chester State Teachers College, where he was professor of English. In 1921 he became headmaster of the Pennington School, where he is serving at present.

Dr. Green has been called "an outstanding educator of America, who has devoted his life to the best things, to the training of the country's youth." He has written "What They Say, Day By Day" and "Quotations From Great Authors." An eloquent public speaker, Dr. Green has lectured at Juniata on numerous occasions. He is the friend of most of the great literary people of today, both in the United States and abroad. His home is a veritable museum of rare books, manuscripts and autographs. Recently he presented to the Pennington School a book containing several thousand autographs of famous personages.

Alumni Day

THE commencement week-end will be made all the more auspicious because Alumni Day will honor President Ellis.

Except for the omission of a baseball game in the afternoon, the schedule will follow the program of former years. The officers and members of the Executive Committee of the Association will meet at 9:30 o'clock in place of the regular business meeting. Alumni will meet informally in the social rooms from 11:00 to 12:00 o'clock.

The national president, William R. Flory, '21, Harrisburg, will preside over the annual luncheon to be held in the dining hall at noon. Perhaps no better selection as a speaker could be made for this occasion than Juniata's long-time friend, Dr. Francis Harvey Green, '31, L.L.D. The program also includes President Ellis and the alumni president elect Dr. Miles Murphy, '23. Reservations for this luncheon should be mailed to the Alumni Office.

Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, honorary alumnus in the class of 1917 (Litt. D.) will be the speaker at the Friends of the Library tea at 3:00 o'clock. Col. Shoemaker, an authority on Pennsylvania folk lore, has written widely in this field. All alumni are invited to this function.

Baccalaureate Sunday

DESPITE wartime travel restrictions, there will be many alumni and parents and friends of the graduating class on campus for the Commencement Sunday activities. President Ellis' baccalaureate sermons in the Stone Church have always been masterpieces of visionary yet sound advice to Juniata's men and women poised on the threshold of their life's work. But this year more than ever before, Doctor Ellis' sermon will embody the sage counsel which represents the consummation of his many years as a Christian scholar, educator, and moulder of men and women.

On Sunday afternoon, from three to five o'clock, President and Mrs. Ellis will receive the members of the senior class in the college library.

The senior hymn ceremonies will be held at 6 o'clock on Founders'

THE JUNIATA SPORTS PARADE

It may be a spring of green performers and rusty coaches on the Juniata campus, but the little school on College Hill has managed to maintain its reputation as a giant-killer despite all difficulties. With the baseball season still incomplete, the Blue and Gold trowsers have already made their mark in Pennsylvania inter-collegiate ranks, and Bill Thorn, ace senior trackman, has brought J. C. to the fore in cinder-path ranks despite a drastically curtailed season.

With Dr. Edgar Kiracofe handling the coaching reins, and six frosh filling starting posts, the diamond men have already chalked up triumphs over the University of Pittsburgh and Bucknell, enough to satisfy their most ardent fan. The Indians now have a mark of three and three, having split with Elizabethtown and dropped single contests to Penn State and Bucknell. A return game with Pitt and another brace of tilts with Elizabethtown remain on their schedule.

The story of track competition, though much shorter, carries just as much punch. Juniata athletes have competed only twice this year, both times in big carnivals, but they've written their names on the records. Bill Thorn, spring-footed high jumper, made his first appearance of the year at the Penn Relay Carnival, and finished sixth in a field of 35 jumpers. His leap of 6 feet 2 inches equalled the Juniata record he set last year. Columbia's famed Bill Vessie just nipped Thorn for fifth place in the event. Both men cleared the same height, but Vessie was awarded the place by virtue of one less miss. Thorn came into his own at the Middle Atlantic States Conference meet, however, by capturing the high jump with an effort of 6 feet. He also finished second in the 120-yard high hurdles, pushing Bucknell's Schnure to a new record for the event, 15 seconds flat. Thorn was clocked in 15.1 which is three-tenths of a second under the Juniata record for the event. His performances gave Juniata seventh place in a twelve-college meet, and his high jump victory marked the first time a Juniata man has won at the Middle Atlantic since 1939 when Don Snider copped the 440.

A more complete look at the baseball season reveals a story of top-notch performance on the part of an almost completely inexperienced outfit. The Indians showed their lack of savvy and poise in dropping three games they might have won, but they more than redeemed themselves by pulling the Pitt and Bucknell games out of the fire, and by handing Elizabethtown a shutout. The opening tilt of the season found the charges of Dr. Kiracofe crossing bats with Penn State, and only a shaky start cost them a win over the Nittany Lions. Trailing 6-0 after the first two frames, the Indians put a scare into their foes in the later innings but were nosed out, 8-5. At that they outhit the winners, 10-7.

Coming through with plenty of stuff when the chips were down, the locals pulled the surprise of the year in their next fray by topping Pitt, 8-7. The Panthers had an 8-0 lead as late as the eighth inning, but it wasn't enough. Five

Fellow Juniataians:

The present fiscal year of the Juniata College Alumni Association will close as of June fifteenth. There is every indication that our several objectives, set early in the year, will have been equalled or exceeded. This within itself is tangible evidence, not only of the interest, but the loyalty of the alumni of our college.

We wish at this time to thank those hundreds of alumni who have responded so promptly and so generously to our several appeals during the year. There are still others who intend to be active participants in this year's program. May I urge you to do so now? It only requires a contribution to the Activities Fund of the year to be an active member. It makes no difference how small that contribution may be.

The transition from peace to war conditions has produced a severe crisis which confronts our college, both as to the present and the future. The extent of this crisis is unpredictable until the final pattern of the post-war world unfolds. Already ideas have been expressed giving great concern to those who believe it necessary to preserve the privately endowed Christian colleges. A tremendous factor in the preservation of the future of Juniata College, as well as all other similar institutions, is the thousands of individuals constituting the alumni of these colleges. This is an influence which must make itself felt when post-war problems are being solved. These groups believe that in a nation of free people, Christian education must not only be preserved, but must play a far more important part, in the years to come.

Sincerely,

BILL FLORY
President

D. Ben Replogle, well known educator, engineer, lawyer and inventor, died at his home in Berkley, California, on March 16, 1943. Mr. Replogle was born on January 21, 1863, in Martinsburg, Pa. He was graduated from Huntingdon Normal School, now Juniata College, in 1885 and from the Dickinson Law School in 1893. He practiced law in Scranton until 1903 when he moved to Berkley. In 1906, Mr. Replogle turned his time and attention to inventions, making of them a profitable career. He held 130 patents, most of them on the Air-Way Sanitizer, his own design in suction cleaners. Mr. Replogle was married twice, first to Ida E. Silvius, who preceded him in death by many years. In 1894 he married R. Belle Trumbull of New Milford, Pa., who survives him. He is also survived by three children, ten grandchildren and one great-grandson. The Alumni Bulletin honored Mr. Replogle by featuring him in the "spot-light" of the April 4 issue.

steps. Professor Charles L. Rowland has rewritten several of the more difficult parts of the hymn and has been giving the seniors extensive rehearsals.

The speaker at the 6:30 vesper service on Round Top will be Dr. E. Hans Evans, '33, pastor of the Wolff Memorial Presbyterian Church in Newark, N. J. After his graduation from Juniata College, Dr. Evans spent three years in Princeton Theological Seminary where he received his bachelor of theology degree in 1936. He then studied in Europe on fellowship from Princeton, receiving his Ph.D. from the University of Tübingen in 1938 and also studying at the University in Dijon, France. His church has been the host to the Juniata College Choir on numerous occasions.

The concluding program on Commencement Sunday will be the concert by the Juniata College Choir at 8:30 p. m., in Oller Hall. Directed by Professor Rowland, the choir will sing some of the best numbers from their regular sacred programs for 1942-43. Outstanding additions will be "Gallia," a short cantata by Mendelssohn, sung by the girls' choir, and "Lift Thine Eyes," from "Elijah," sung by the girls' trio. The program will open with a 20-minute organ recital by William Wagner, the college organist. Because the usual oratorio has been omitted this year, alumni choir members have not been invited to participate in this program.

runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth tied it up, and the winning tally was pushed over in the tenth. Ray Tesi, who pitched runless ball after relieving Frick in the third inning, proved the hero of the game. He also lashed out two doubles, sharing slugging honors with two more frosh, Bill Goelz and Jack Lang.

The next game saw the College Hill nine reverse their usual procedure by falling apart in the late innings, after apparently having a win sewed up. Bucknell pushed over seven runs in the last two innings to nip the Indians, 8-7, in this one. A few days later the local tossers got even, however, by batting across three tallies in a tenth-inning uprising to best the Lewisburg ensemble, 6-3. Veteran Dick Frick turned in an outstanding mound performance as his mates gave him errorless support.

Next foe was Elizabethtown, and the Phantoms threw predictions out of the window by shading their sister school, 8-7, in the first of a two-game week-end series. It was a hard-fought tussle that went eleven innings, but it was the E'-Townners who came through this time. The next day the locals gained ample revenge, by giving hurler Bob Holsinger plenty of support as he set down the Phantoms with three hits and handed them a 6-0 whitewashing.

With the added poise and confidence they have already gained, the Indians are hoping to cop all three games still on their schedule, and get above the .500 mark. And their chances are good. Frick, Paul Frye, and Holsinger comprise an effective hurling staff, and Dick Wareham is proving adept at catching their slants. The infield consists of Eisenhart at first, Wine-land at second, Bargerstock at short, and Goelz at third. Querry, Quint, and Lang are patrolling the outer gardens. Of this group, all but Frick, Frye, Bargerstock, Querry, and Quint are frosh. Tesi, hero of the Pitt game, was inducted into the Army four days after his only appearance on the J. C. diamond.
